He was born in Bay View on August 21, 1888, and attended the local public schools. In 1907, he, his brother Fred and Harry Larkin started the Bay View Observer but abandoned the project the following year. Erwin then worked with the U.S. Postal Service as well as several other firms before reviving the Observer in 1934. Throughout his years as editor and alderman, Zillman was an active participant in Bay View's civic life and a champion of Bay View development, especially the construction of a lakefront freeway. He passed away in November 1970.

Scope and Content: The records consist of correspondence, clippings, publications, programs, and financial records that detail Zillman's newspaper, political, and civic activities.
