Abstract: The Turnverein has long advocated physical fitness, first in Germany and then in the U.S. beginning in 1848. Milwaukee's first permanent Turner society was established in 1853. But the Turners were concerned about more than gymnastics. They took a decided stand against slavery and were instrumental in forming the Republican Party in 1854. They also promoted educational excellence as well as various cultural and intellectual events, staging music festivals and debates. The Turners also had a lasting impression on Milwaukee's physical landscape. The current Turner Hall, constructed in 1883, remains one of the city's landmark.

Scope and Content: The collection includes minutes, newsletters, invoices, programs, newspaper clippings, reports, anniversary booklets and general historical information.

Access and Use: No restrictions
