Abstract: The Lemurian Fellowship was organized in September 1936. It was a voluntary association “united in a common cultural, educational and religious bond” which subscribed to the “Lemurian Cosmo-Conception.” It espoused a universal philosophy as conceived of through the concept of the lost continent of Mu and the ancient, enlightened civilization that inhabited it. The group had an Industrial Division and Lemurian Press in Milwaukee and educational/statistical divisions in California. The Fellowship eventually transferred its publication operation to Los Angeles.

Scope and Content: The collection consists of the Spring 1941 issue (Vol. 1, No. 1) of The Lemurian Ambassador published by the Lemurian Press of Milwaukee.
