Abstract: The Goldsmith family were prosperous merchants in southeast Wisconsin before the Civil War. In 1867, Bernard Goldsmith and his father, Joseph, established Goldsmith & Co. in Milwaukee. The business grew to become one of the largest carpet and home-furnishing companies in Wisconsin. But a disastrous fire and financial difficulties stemming from the Panic of 1893 prompted Bernard to leave Milwaukee and start a new business in Berlin, Germany.

Scope and Content: The collection consists of correspondence, clippings, and legal documents as well as material relating to the Goldsmith Building and the Goldsmith and Willius families.
