Abstract: In 1911, the Wisconsin legislature passed a law that permitted school boards to use school facilities for evening classes, vacation schools, reading rooms, debating clubs, public baths, gymnasiums, and public playgrounds to enrich the lives of the state's youth, adults and seniors. The law resulted in the creation of the Milwaukee Public Schools' Extension Department. During the department's first year, its needs were met by two social centers and eight playgrounds. After Dorothy Enderis was appointed head of the department in 1920, it expanded tremendously. The name was changed to the Department of Municipal Recreation and Adult Education and then to the Division of Recreation and Community Services. Since its inception, the department has offered numerous recreational and educational activities such as citizenship classes for immigrants, municipal athletic leagues for men and women, Golden Age Clubs for seniors, and theatrical productions, including the formation of the Milwaukee Players troupe in 1931.

Scope and Content: The collection consists of budget material, publications, programs, photos, manuals, brochures/leaflets and other ephemera detailing the department's programs and activities.

Access and Use: No restrictions

Language: English

Notes: Donors include the Milwaukee Public Schools Department of Recreation.
