Abstract: The East Side Community Council was founded in order to protect and serve the community surrounding the areas of the University of Wisconsin- Milwaukee and neighboring city projects. This council dealt with many local committees to solve problems that arose with dealing with the city. Local aldermen were just some of the political figure heads that the community dealt with to handle local issues. The council disbanded in the late 1980s and then was founded again out of the Third District Neighborhood Association. In 2010 the council changed its name yet again to form the East Side Milwaukee Community Council, which is still active today.

Scope and Content: This collection contains correspondences from several committees and aldermen, maps, reports on education, construction and government, flyers, advertisements, newspaper clippings, UWM newspapers, slides and binders of East Side Community Council meetings minutes.
