Historical Note: Julius Rohland, Sr. was a Milwaukee businessman during the late 19th century. City directories indicate he was involved in a variety of ventures; 1878, a manufacturer of “Paris Wash Powder” with a Mr. Nettel; 1881-1889, a carpenter; 1880’s & 1890’s, a barber; and 1890’s, a dealer in wines and liquors. He also actively pursued and received a patent for pianos in the late 1890’s. His son, Julius Rohland, Jr., was involved in music, working as a piano teacher during the 1920’s & 1930’s. Marshall Rohland is the son of Julius Jr.

Administrative Note: The collection was processed on Nov. 11, 1995 by Eileen Lipinski. Material was added to the collection on May 2000 & Dec. 2000 by Kevin Abing.
